Fun and Sun KICKOFF

NEW, OLD CITY HALL WINS WISTARIA AWARD — Barbara Godley presented the Wistaria Award from the Sierra Madre Beautification Committee to the developers of the old city hall property Harold Anderson and Fritz Ahern. They have restructured the building to meet the new earthquake standards and added attractive landscaping. The property was built in 1927 on land originally owned by the Firemen's Club, forerunner of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

Old City Hall wins Beautification Committee Award

The latest recipient of the Wistaria Award from the Sierra Madre Beautification Committee is the newly restored Old City Hall. Harold Anderson and Fritz Ahern, the present owners, were responsible for the major construction challenge of bringing the building up to code and making it earthquake proof. Residents of Sierra Madre who remember with a great deal of emotion their old, old friend — the abandoned city hall, are deeply indebted to these two professional contractors.

Old City Hall was an endangered species many times. Each time, there was a short reprieve until finally the two "white knights" rode into town and saved the old girl, hopefully forever.

Walking through the swinging front doors brings back a flood of memories! The squeek in the door has, very nicely been preserved. The rest — the wood steps, the barred payment windows, the firehouse and jail and the collection of original art which adorned the walls of the Council Chambers are no more. But, what memories linger.

Prior to the construction of the city hall in 1927, the Sierra Madre Firemen's Club started building a meeting place. What they finished was a basement. The club preceeded the beginning of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department in 1921.

The new city facilities for fire and police were dedicated in 1976. At that time, these two departments vacated the Old City Hall. Others followed in 1979.

What was involved in the preservation of the old city hall?

Demolition was the first step. To meet earthquake standards, the roof was removed and all new plywood floors and roof and brace parapets installed. The walls had to be anchored to the floor and roof. Plaster was removed from the old brick walls and a sand blasting treatment has revealed the patina of wear and age. If only they could talk!

Climbing the stairs, I thought of the times I had met in the old firemen's quarters and either shivvered or swealtered. It is like the Fairy Godmother waved her wand and the cinders and ashes were gone. Ensconced in those quarters today is a handsomely and lavishly furnished executive office and apartment. Earth tone colors, hand crafted tile, lovely furnishings, understated but elegant, it is a far cry from the yesteryear.

Today, Harold Anderson uses the faciliity for an office, an apartment when he is in the village and he and Fritz Ahern operate an earthquake improvement business from the site. The latter construction improvements are made to buildings within Los Angeles City.

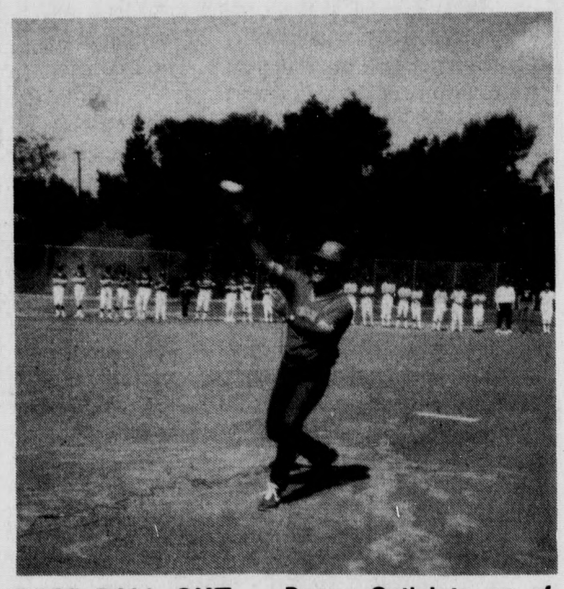

So, what is in the future for the grand old girl? Many have looked at the facility with a wide variety of uses in mind. Many have fallen by the wayside — for restaurants, parking is a problem; for others money is. And back to Cinderella, for some its too big — for others a pinch.

What does Harold Anderson wish for his newly found friend? A good leasing tenant(s) so he can retain the building. And why? Because he loves Sierra Madre — the smallness, the uncluttered feel and look. To quote Harold, "I love this building — that's why I don't want to sell — I want to lease." About the Wistaria Award, spoken almost shyly as one would who loved what he did, "That's very nice, I feel good about that." It would seem that there must be a mutual love affair — Harold with the Old City Hall and the town with him for saving the Dear Old Girl for us.

Past commendation award winners are: the Robert Davis' residence, 391 Auburn; Betty and James Ryder, 1975 Liliano; Janet Wood, 38 Grandview; Mr. and Mrs. H. Coryell, 248 Grove St.; N. J. Kitchen Creations school opens

When is a kitchen more than a kitchen? When it becomes the home for a full fledged school for emerging and experienced cooks and the center for food styling and photography. This is exactly the future fortune for the Kitchen Creations kitchen tucked into the produce section at Sunshine Produce and Meats on Foothill Blvd. in Monrovia.

Margo Kidushim, owner - operator of the school, needs no introduction to News readers who have enjoyed her Food for Thoughts recipes since the first of the year. The first series of classes started last Monday and will run through July. Among the taste pleasing treats are Bastille picnic, an Italian dinner party, bread baking, classes for pairs and even for children. Over 30 different subjects will be explored in the demonstration/participation lessons.

The kitchen that provides the laboratory for the instruction is fully equipped and beautifully appointed. The extensive array of convenient appliances will not be ignored in the teaching. Instruction on the use of the microwave, food processor and other equipment will be included in each session.

Margo will teach some of the classes but has lined up an impressive list of guest artists to teach many. Enrollment fees range from $18 to $25 for the two or three hour sessions. Students will, of course, sample the cuisine prepared to be able to tell if their attempts at home duplicate the original.

Opening of the kitchen marks the turning of another page for Margo and Ralph Kidushim. Long known for the fine quality produce they have made available to San Gabriel Valley consumers, they have continued to respond to the interests and needs of the people they serve. Recently, this happened when a meat department was added to Sunshine Produce.

For the timid cook, there is hope. Margo tells of her early married years when she learned to cook from scratch. From that humble beginning, she has moved into the recognized status of a professional food stylist for television and print media. To make sure their children won't go through the same struggle, Margo and Ralph have taught six year old Jordan and Nicole, 10, how to cook.

With Margo as a role model, who can pass up the opportunity to learn to cook or expand cooking horizons at the Creative Kitchen? To get a copy of the Calendar of Events, stop in at Sunshine Produce and Meats, 925 W. Foothill, Monrovia or call 359-4018. One last incentive — if that isn't enough — each participant will leave the class armed with a market list to shop on the way home for ingredients to become a gourmet copycat.

KITCHEN CREATIONS KICKS OFF SERIES — Margo Kidushim, school coordinator cooks up an exciting program of classes in the beautiful fully equipped kitchen.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

● Sad news reached us Tuesday morning. Barney Westkamper while fishing in San Filipe had a stroke. He was taken to the hospital in Calexico and will be moved to Arcadia as soon as he is stronger. Our wishes for a fast recovery are with Barney.

● Cherrie Leighton dropped off several British papers for us to peruse. And on those pages I can hear Cherrie's proper, clean British accent talking to me. Anyone who would like to see these British journalistic endeavors should stop in at The News office. We are keeping them here for now.

● I was a guest at the Arcadia chapter of Le Tip International recently. Not We Tip. Le Tip. It's a totally different organization with totally different rules.

WeTip is the organization that urges people to call the police with tips concernning criminals.

Le Tip is a business club in which members display their wares, so to speak.

You'll be hearing more about Le Tip.

● "The Spirit of World Peace" is Sierra Madre's Rose Float theme for next year, according to president Ginny Liskow. It was designed by a mother and daughter team this year, Cindy and Tensie Benson. Cindy collaborated with Ty Adams for last year's design and with her mother this year.

The choice was made at the last Rose Float Association meeting and won out of five entries that qualified.

● It's a bit late to report the next item but we just heard about it. Jeffe Liskow and Kelly Walker celebrated Jeffe's 7th birthday Apr. 1 complete with a cake. The party was held in Kelly's backyard. Birthday cake? you ask. Well, how about hot dogs and dog bis-

Traffic deaths are lowest in seven years

California drivers logged a record estimated 178.1 billion miles in 1983, but traffic accident deaths dipped to a seven-year low, according to figures released recently by the Highway Patrol.

CHP's year-end figures include statistics for all law enforcement jurisdictions and show that 4571 people died on state roads last year, a decrease of about 1% over the previous 12 months.

The new figures also establish an all-time low state mileage death rate of 2.6 deaths per 100 million miles, an important factor in assessing traffic safety programs.

Alcohol-related traffic deaths are down for the second consecutive year since California put tougher drinking driver laws into effect in 1981.

In 1983, 2386 deaths were caused by drunk drivers or resulted from accidents where alcohol was a major factor, a 13% drop over 1982.

The improved state picture was marred by a 6.7% increase in overall traffic accident injuries to 292,538, of which 66,909 were alcohol-related.

Motorcyclists deaths declined some 4.4% to 651; pedestrian fatalities rose slightly over 4% to 835; while 114 bicyclists died in traffic accidents, a jump of 28% over the previous year (current-year figures are for all bicyclist accidents, including those which did not involve a motor vehicle). Twelve moped riders died in 1983 compared to 10 the year before.

The CHP report shows 524 fatal accidents where speeding was the major cause, a decline of almost 3%; and an increase of more than 20% in fatal accidents caused by trucks, totalling 123.

IDs indicate lower age

Beginning May 1, drivers licenses and identification cards issued to persons under age 21 will be distinctively marked. Lettering in red ink across the front of each document will bear the words "UNDER 21 UNTIL . . ." followed by the applicable year.

Department of Motor Vehicles Director George E. Meese said he decided to implement this procedure as a deterrent to the purchase or drinking of liquor by under-age persons and as an assist to bars, liquor stores and law enforcement personnel.

A valid license or ID card continues to be valid past a person's 21st birthday until its expiration.

Ronald Reagan went off to China. I didn't know they had a primary there.

Every newspaper had a picture of Reagan in the ocean. I knew he was going to China, but I didn't know he was going to swim there.

Swimming is good practice for handling our economy. It's learning to keep your head above water.

He didn't have to worry about sharks. He left them all home in Washington.

Reagan went from Washington to China. He wanted to hang around some friendly politicians for a change.

If he wanted to listen to politicians speak in a foreign language, he could have just tuned in the campaign speeches.

It's nice for Reagan to get out of Washington. At least that's what Mondale and Hart keep telling us.

He's visited a lot of remote places on his trip. He's looking around for ambassadorships for Hart and Mondale after the election.

He was with the Red China politicians. He found out they're even further right than he is.

He ate Chinese food, but with an American flavor. He stopped at McDonald's and got an Egg Mc Soy Sauce.

The Chinese rolled out the red carpet for him. Of course, that doesn't mean much. Over there everything is red.

The Chinese were very friendly toward Ronald Reagan. Why shouldn't they be? They haven't seen any of his old movies.

Forum to help voters with propositions

Interested voters are welcome to hear a presentation on the propositions which will appear on the June ballot, offered as a public service by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club during its May 9 meeting at 1 p.m., at the historic Essick House, 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Dr. Gary Adams, former mayor of Sierra Madre and professor at Cal State University, Long Beach, will present the pros and cons of the various measures which will be before the voters in June, according to club program chairman Martha Van De Verg.

Lifeline gives independence

Soon, frail elderly and disabled individuals living in the Methodist Hospital of Arcadia service area will have the possibility of a safe alternative to a nursing home. Lifeline, a new home care program began at the hospital on April 27.

The service provides immediate access to emergency assistance any time, day or night. The personal response system helps elderly, handicapped and disabled people live independently in their own homes.

For those registered with Lifeline, their own telephone and a simple piece of equipment worn around the neck or wrist can be life-saving. Through Lifeline, help is obtained by simply pressing a button.

Just how does Lifeline work? When the button is pushed, the communication unit that is connected to the subscriber's telephone automatically dials the 24-hour Response Center at Methodist Hospital. Even if the phone is off the hook, there is a power failure or the individual can't activate the button, a built-in timer will signal for help.

Immediately on the signal, hospital personnel will begin calling a prearranged list of contacts — usually family or neighbors, until the person's needs are met. If emergency contacts can't be reached, police or paramedics are notified.

Details for the service are currently being worked out by a hospital team, including physicians, nurses, volunteers and management. Once the program is fully operational, it will be staffed by volunteers under the direction of Pat Taylor, member of the San Gabriel Auxiliary to Methodist Hospital.

The Lifeline program was made available to area residents through the commitment of Togo Tanaka, member of the Methodist's Board of Directors. "The hospital board, administration, employees and volunteers are truly excited about the new community outreach project," says Richard A. Hachten II, president and administrator. "We join those who will benefit from this service in saying, 'thank you,' to Tanaka for his generous financial commitment."

Mother's Day Rose Show May 12-13

Plans are now being finalized and a record number of entries and spectators are expected again this year for the silver anniversary 25th edition of the annual Mother's Day Rose and Rose Arrangement Show at Rose Hills Memorial Park in Whittier.

Held in the colorful Pageant of Roses Garden each year on Mother's Day weekend, the dates for this year's show will be Saturday and Sunday, May 12 and 13. The garden is located at 3900 Workman Mill Road, Whittier.

In past years, the show has drawn as many as 1500 individual entries and has been viewed by as many as 40,000 persons during its two-day run.

Dennis C. Poulsen, president of Rose Hills, urged all rose fanciers in the Southern California area to enter and attend the show.

Competition is open to all amateur rose growers, or rose arrangers, and they are eligible to compete for hundreds of prizes including silver bowls and trays, trophies, ribbons and special purchase orders for rose bushes.

Prizes in special categories, the John van Barneveld Trophy, in honor of the former Rosarian of the Pageant of Roses Garden at Rose Hills, and two awards from the All-America Rose Selections Society will also be offered. This year, a new special award will be presented, when the winner of the "Best Dozen Roses" in the show receives the Royal National Bronze Medal of the Royal Rose Society of England.

Entries in this year's show will be accepted from 7 to 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 12, and a team of rose show officials will be on hand to assist entrants to identify and place their rose in the proper classifications.

The entries will be on display for the public to view from 1 to 6 p.m. on Saturday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Admission to the show is free and there is ample free parking located near the garden.

Rose Hills Rosarian, Jim Kirk, the show chairman, has again lined up a team of top rose experts from throughout the United States to serve on the judging panel.

Old Fashioned

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

Everyone, it seems, has at one time or another had an almost "incurable" case of the hiccoughs.

In the days of primitive people it was believed that the Evil Eye was the cause for hiccoughs. However, modern science has proved that the hiccough or hiccup is caused by the closure of the glottis, which is the elongated space between the vocal cords, thus we get the "unusual" sound.

Many cures for this embarrassing discomfort have been tried. An old wives' cure was to drink nine swallows of water successively without taking a breath. Or there was the familiar "breathing into a paper bag" cure. In the days of Plato, sneezing once or twice was recommended. But none of these cures has ever worked for me.

It is said that the cause of the closure of the glottis is due to a psychic nature. Either fear, worry or excitement will cause the hiccough to go away as quickly as it comes. At least that's what the optimists say.

However, I have a sure, quick and easy cure, guaranteed by an old gypsy friend of mine. First you get a glass of water, and while you are standing up, take a big sip — but don't swallow. Hold your nose, and bend over at the waist, so you appear to be bent in half (like a horseshoe). While holding your nose, swallow the water upside down. Straighten up and take a deep breath of air. That should do it, at least it always works for me, and there's none of that embarrassing "breathing into the paper bag" bit.

New bowler wins

Liz Mazzetti of Pasadena, a veteran lawn bowling tournament player, teamed with Jeanette McCornack of Sierra Madre, recently graduated from Santa Anita Bowling Green Club's training class, to win the club's annual Women's Pairs Tournament at Arcadia County Park. They defeated Kay Wellington of Arcadia and Jeannete Gallon of Monterey Park, 16 to 11, in A-flight competition.

In B-flight, Winifred Eberle of Arcadia and Dorothy Lietz of Alhambra defeated Elaine Schulman and Mary Park, both of Arcadia, 14-13.

Twenty new names were added to the club roster when the recent training course concluded. A new class will be trained next fall.

Anyone interested is urged to call training chairman Carl Pearson at 447-7137. New player McCornack's showing in the pairs competition is proof that the basics of the game can be acquired quickly.

Historical Society annual dinner set for May 16

Sierra Madre Historical Society will hold their annual dinner meeting Wednesday, May 16, 6:30 p.m. at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, located on the corner of Michiilinda and West Sierra Madre Blvd.

Dr. David T. Leary, professor of United States History at Pasadena City College, whose special interest is the American West, will present a slide program entitled "Presidents and Paradise: McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson in the Southland."

In this year of a presidential election, the subject of Dr. Leary's program is a timely one. As the population of the Southland grew, presidents and presidential candidates recognized the importance of bringing their campaigns to this area — the "Paradise" Dr. Leary speaks of.

Leary is a graduate of Stanford and received a doctorate in history from USC. He has a large collection of rare and unusual historical photographs and has traveled extensively, both at home and abroad, visiting places of importance to American history.

Helen Obazawa is in charge of catering the dinner. Tickets, $6.50 each, are available at Hartman Pharmacy, or by mailing check with self-addressed stamped envelope enclosed to SMHS, Box 202, Sierra Madre 91024. For further information call 355-3928.

TIME TO THINK OF SPRING

By Joe Delgatto

In spite of the recent cold weather, signs of the emergence of Spring are abundant . . .

— plants are beginning to bud . . .

— the grass is green . . .

— and the days are warmer and longer.

So it's time to think of what we're wearing now and what we'll be wearing a few weeks from now.

You'll be putting topcoats and overcoats away soon. We suggest you have them cleaned and treated with moth repellent before storage.

The heavier suits and dresses will be put away. Again we recommend the wisest of all courses for preserving them: thorough cleaning (and moth repellent treatment) prior to storage.

And as for the lighter clothing which you'll want to wear again, we suggest that you bring them out of storage now if you didn't clean them last Fall. The sooner the better. You may still prevent damage from occurring or increasing. And let's not forget that these lighter garments can be given a smoother finish, better body, and be less susceptible to soil and staining if they're treated with an appropriate sizing.

Yes folks, now as in the past and in the future as well, it's just smart husbandry, and (I suppose) "housewifery" to Almighty God, Whose power raised Jesus Christ from the dead, accept our thanks and praise for Your mighty act.

As the risen Lord opened the eyes of the Enmaus disciples to the Scriptures, so send us Your Holy Spirit that He may open our eyes to Your spiritual truth. Help us to understand that everything that happened to Jesus took place in accordance with Your promises revealed to us by Moses and the prophets.

By Your grace forgive us our sins. Keep us in the faith that one day we may experience Your presence where there is fullness of joy and pleasures for evermore. Amen.

You are welcome to join us for worship each Sunday morning at 10:30 a.m.

From Behind the Wire

by Ed Colucci

For those of you who stopped up at Dapper Field last Saturday to honor Danny Osti, we thank you. For those of you who were not there, you missed a beautiful day for baseball. The teams of the Pony/Colt league were presented to all there and then the president of the league, Gary Griffith, gave a short speech on the many things that Danny has done for baseball and the community. Special thanks were also given to the park and rec. chairman Jenny Huse plus all the good guys and gals who take time to pitch in and help out.

The first game of the season saw the Twins of Ron Schwartz take on the Giants. Behind some strong pitching of Gary Vlcek, the Twins handcuffed the Giants by the score of 15 to 3. Jack Taylor went all the way for the Giants but the hitting just wasn't there.

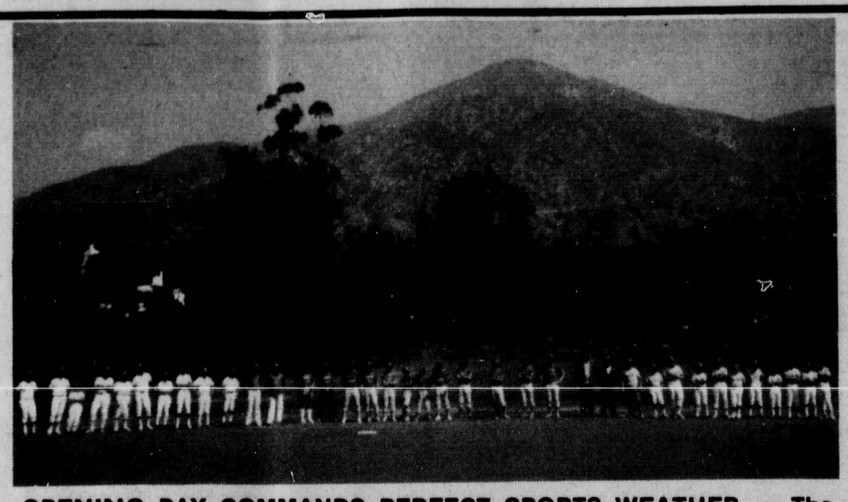

We did the play by play for Group W, and did you ever have one of those days when your mouth wouldn't work. Well it happened to me Saturday . . . it felt like I brushed my teeth with cement an hour before the game. If anyone can figure out what I said during the game, send it to the News office and if I like it, I'll take you out to lunch.

We will have some Little League Corner stuff for you next week. L.L. took a short break between the first and second halves of play.

To celebrate the opening of the trout season up in the High Sierras, we stayed home and went out to Lake Anaheim. I've been up at Crowley with all the rest of those wackos before and you just can't stay warm up there. So as I said, we went to one of our local lakes and yep, you guessed right . . . we got skunked . . .

The only bright spot of the whole day was when P.J. and Leslie McGuire showed up with baby Christopher Edward. All G.P. Big ED caught was a bad sunburn and a lot of weeds. There were six of us and we threw everything but the tackle boxes in that lake trying to catch some fish. Leslie made one great side arm cast that picked up all our lines and turned them into spaghetti. Never again . . . .

See You on the Street

OPENING DAY COMMANDS PERFECT SPORTS WEATHER — The Pony-Colt League teams lined up Saturday morning at opening day ceremonies before a backdrop of the mountains on a crisp spring day. Gary Griffiths is president of the Pony-Colt League and is a P & R Commissioner.

Pitching duel marks double-header

The Sierra Madre Pony League opened its season with a doubleheader. The Twins, behind the strong pitching of Gary Vlcek, and the powerful hitting of Jamie Heiberg, defeated the injury-ridden Giants 15-3.

The second game was not decided until the 7th inning. Dave Griffiths of the Cardinals and Scott Marlow of the Tigers, matched up in a pitching duel. Griffiths struck out 12 and walked two. Marlow struck out 9 and also walked only two. The winning run came when Jeff Rupp hit a two out single scoring Matt Venegas from second base.
